TARIFF LAW STANDS.

Marshal Field's Protest Over-Ruled.

SUPREME COURT TO SPEAK.

If the McKinley Law is Beaten It Must Be in the United States Court—Judge Blodgett's Ruling in the Case.

Chicago, Feb. 25.—[Special]—Judge Blodgett has affirmed the decision of the New York board of appraisers in the contest of Marshal Field & Company against the government.

Marshal Field & Company claimed that the law compelling the payment of certain duties under the McKinley bill was not legal. Judge Blodgett expressed himself as much impressed by the arguments for the contestants, but said that he thought it best to affirm the decision, and allow the matter to be finally settled in the United States supreme court. An appeal will be taken to that tribunal, and the result will be awaited with great interest by importers.

THE WATER IS RISING.

Ohio's Flood Grows More Serious Each Day.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 24.—The outlook of the Ohio river flood grows worse. Here the river continues to rise about an inch an hour. At 10 o'clock it stood 56 feet 8 1/2 inches. It is rising at Portumouth at something less than an inch an hour. There is some hope in the fact that it is falling rapidly at Wheeling and at Parkersburg; and also that the headwaters of the great Kanawha are falling. The effect of the flood here at this stage of the water is inconvenient, but not disastrous. The railroads that use the Central depot are compelled to vacate it, but they all have improvised passenger stations which they use instead. The Chesapeake & Ohio and the Kentucky Canal are exceptions to this rule, as the water will not reach the floor of the Central station until a rise of at least about a foot more. The Panhandle road is not affected at all, nor its depot. The Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton and the trains running into its depot arrive and depart as usual.
Since the flood of 1884, when the Ohio & Mississippi road was disabled between here and Lawrenceburg, its track has been raised, so that it is out of danger against any flood that is likely to come. At Newport water is four feet deep at Isabella and Fourth streets and a number of families are seeking other houses. In Covington the low-lying portions are submerged, but none of the large manufacturing are interfered with yet. At Portsmouth the water works have been stopped by the overflow, but the manufacturing are situated above what is now regarded as the probable height of the flood. Parkersburg has lost its gas and water, and is in danger from a coal famine.

The "Big Four" road is under water from Lawrenceburg to Aurora, Ind., and is abandoned. The Mill creek bottoms are a vast lake miles in extent. Under the water thousands of acres of truck gardens lay submerged and damaged thousands of dollars. Out in the west and a hundred houses are submerged and the inhabitants have fled to higher ground. A half-dozen factories in that section are closed down and probably 250 hands are out of employment.

Louis Cook & Co's big carriage factory has shut down. The White Line street-car route is covered with water for a mile. Down in the bottom lands the basements and first floors have been emptied for five squares back from the river. On Front street the water is on the third floors.
A dozen foundries are stopped and business of all kinds in that section of the city is largely suspended. Livezey's monster sawmill is closed down and half the other factories in the town, including the Adgstone pipeworks, are also closed. Dayton is completely surrounded.

BRANTON, O., Feb. 24.—The city is suffering from another flood. The water has submerged all the lower sections and driven hundreds of families from their homes. Water is now standing in the business parts of the city and the river is still rising.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Feb. 24.— Riverside is still inundated and but few families will be able to return to their homes for two weeks. The sufferers are being cared for. The loss to the railroads is very great. All of them are badly crippled and in some cases it will take several weeks work to repair the damage.
No mails have left Marietta for five days. The post office was flooded half way to the top of the letter boxes and the newspaper offices had four feet of water in them. In the Ohio valley not less than 15,000 men have been thrown out of employment. This will entail great suffering. A close observer who had passed through the inundated district estimates the loss at $4,000,000. Only two cases of drowning are reported—William Powell, who lived near Benwood, and Harry Westgate, whose home was at Torch, on the Ohio side of the river.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 24.—The river is rising steadily at the rate of two inches an hour and the water is already in the houses along the levee for a half dozen squares or more. These people are seeking places of safety, although old river men are of the opinion that no serious results will follow. There is an immense body of water above, but it is not believed that the river here will exceed 30 feet on the falls. This will cause no greater danger than a general flooding of the houses along the river front.
The water is already well up into Fourth street, the principal thoroughfare of the city, but that is due to the fact that the grade at its foot is considerably lower than at other streets.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Feb. 24.—The situation along the river grows more distressing each hour. The river is still climbing up the wharf at the rate of nearly half an inch an hour. At 9 o'clock Monday night the gauge registered 39 feet and 9 inches. The high water compelled the Ohio Valley railroad to abandon the track above this city, and the announcement has been made that connecting this morning they will go to Henderson by way of the Louisville & Nashville bridge.
Green river is rising more rapidly, but the rate of the rise in the streams below is greatly decreased.

HUNTSBURG, Ind., Feb. 24.—The Ohio river is rising rapidly at all points between Louisville and Evansville.
All the river bottom lands between Rockport and Louisville are overflowed and the farmers are leaving their houses and removing their stock and grain.

CARLEYS, Ill., Feb. 24.—The Kaskaskia river, usually a small stream, has assumed large proportions during the last week owing to the general heavy rain-fall. It is rising rapidly and is flooding the lowlands. A large number of log rafts have broken away and will be lost, causing heavy losses to lumbermen.

GILA BEND, A. T., Feb. 24.—Another suspension of traffic on the Southern Pacific railway in Arizona occurred Saturday afternoon. Water from the Gila river overflowed the track at a point thirty miles east of Yuma for a distance of four or five miles, causing considerable damage to railroad and other property. Salt river near Phoenix rose 10 feet in an hour, sweeping away many adobe houses, and 1,000 people in the valley are homeless. The branch railroad running from Maricopa to Phoenix is reported badly washed out.
Yuma is entirely under water, the river having broken the levee Sunday. Damage to the extent of $150,000 has already been done. Gus Lee was drowned in bed. A large amount of live stock perished. The river is still rising, and if it continues to advance will entirely destroy the town. The railroad office is under water.

YUMA, A. T., Feb. 24.—Loss of life is reported from Gila valley. No particulars have been received. The schoolhouse, churches, the convent, restaurants and all stores but one here are flooded. The Yuma Times office is completely wrecked. The railroad bridge across the Colorado escaped much damage.

THEY ARE GRATEFUL.

Gen. Sherman's Family Issue a Letter of Thanks for Public Sympathy.

New York, Feb. 24.—The special funeral train which carried the remains of Gen. Sherman to St. Louis returned to this city Monday morning, bearing the family and the military officers who accompanied the body. One of the first acts of the family on their return was to express in the following letter to the public the appreciation of the honors paid to their dead:

"New York, Feb. 24.—It is fitting that some public acknowledgment should be made by the family of Gen. Sherman of the very many heartfelt tokens of sympathy which they received in their bereavement. We can only say that such universal and such evidently profound sorrow, manifested as it has been in a thousand ways, sustains and comforts us in our desolation, for the entire nation, by its generous expression of condolence, has lightened the burden of our grief and helped us to bear our irreparable loss.
The friends of the family are asked to accept this slight token of our grateful appreciation in lieu of any more direct personal communications, which, while it would be more gratifying to us, we have not now the strength or courage to offer to each and all. In behalf of the family,
THOMAS E. SHERMAN."

TO SCATTER HIS ASHES.

The Peculiar Conditions of the Will of a Dead New Yorker to Be Carried Out to the Letter.

New York, Feb. 24.—To-day the States Island Schutzen corps, unless the authorities interfere, will take an urn containing the ashes of Henry Meyer, late proprietor of the Puck hotel at Port Richmond, to the top of the statue of liberty, where a portion of the ashes will be scattered to the winds. This will be done in accordance with the wishes of the deceased. As the ashes are scattered the final words of the conductor of the ceremony will be: "Here goes the last of Puck Meyer. Happy days." Meyer requested that these words be pronounced at the close of the ceremony. The portion of the ashes which are not thrown from the statue of liberty will be delivered to Meyer's widow.

Struck by a Train.

BRADDOCK, Pa., Feb. 24.—Miss Annie Quinn, of Hazlewood, and John Hughes, of Benwood, W. Va., celebrated Washington's birthday by coming here to visit Hughes' uncle. While waiting for the return train Sunday night they stepped off the depot platform for a stroll along the tracks. They had gone but a few steps when the Philadelphia express thundered down upon them.
The girl was instantly killed, her skull being frightfully mangled. Hughes had both legs broken and mangled, his skull fractured and was injured so badly internally that he will die.

Sir Knight Dickerson Dead.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—Sir Knight John O. Dickerson, who a few weeks ago was subjected to the operation of skin grafting at the expense of 144 of his brother knights templar, died at noon at the Emergency hospital. The unique operation seemed for a time to have materially benefited him, and it was thought he would recover; but his constitution was too much weakened.

tives were present at the session of the joint assembly. Mr. Merritt presided over the house and Hamer over the senate. On the 123d ballot Palmer received 14 votes, Streeter 4, Oglesby 2 and Payson 3.

PRINCETON, Ark., Feb. 24.—Joseph St. Louis and St. Paul, from which fact he gained the sobriquet of "Diamond Joe" Reynolds, died here Saturday night, aged 71 years.

Fatal Street Fight in Columbus,

DUEL IN A CROWDED THOROUGHFARE.

One of the Principals and a Bystander Instantly Killed—Six Other Persons Wounded—The Cause of The Tragedy.

AN OHIO TRAGEDY.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 24.—A tragedy occurred on High street Monday afternoon in which two men were killed and several injured. The affair was the result of articles published in two Sunday papers. W. J. Elliott, of the Sunday Capital, and A. C. Osborn, of the Sunday World, did the shooting. A bystander named Hughes was shot through the head and died almost instantly. Osborn was instantly killed. P. J. Elliott, a brother of W. J.
Elliott, was also hit. The street was crowded with people watching the parade at the time. The trouble grew out of an exchange of articles in which the principals referred to each other's families.

The Elliotts were placed under arrest and threats were openly made against them. P. J. Elliott, who is the Columbus agent of the free employment bureau of the state, was shot in one arm and the back. P. C.
Sullivan, a clerk, was by stander and was shot in the arm.
Among the wounded spectators were John H. Reese, government statistical agent, shot through the left leg, not serious; C. W. Sullivan, book-keeper, shot through the arm; R. E. Gardner, of Des Moines, O., shot through the ankle; C. W. Heifschneider, stuck in the breast by a spent ball.

The excitement here Monday night was very high and the situation looked threatening. Large crowds continued to hover about the scene of the tragedy.
W. J. Elliott and his brother were held at the city prison, and owing to threats which have been openly made the police authorities have taken extra precautions to prevent any outbreak or mob violence. The prison doors have been securely fastened, and only officers having business in the prison are allowed to go back and forth. W. J.
Elliott was interviewed and among other things said:

"At 1 o'clock p. m. I drove to town from Arlington, and thought I would go and see the parade. I met Pat, my brother, and we started south on High street. When opposite Fetter's gun store I said to Pat that I had left a pistol in there to be fixed about a week before and that I believed that I would go in and get it.
When the man gave me the pistol I put it into my pocket, not even looking to see whether the fellow had loaded it.
We started on south. I did not expect to see Osborn, as he never came up town for several days after he wrote anybody up.
When in front of Schrader's saloon I turned and saw Osborn with a revolver pointed at me.
I reached for my pistol when I heard a bullet whiz by my head. I think he shot two or three times at me and I fired back. Osborn started after Pat and Pat ran into the street through the crowd, Osborn firing at him and into the crowd."

A large number of eye-witnesses say that W. J. Elliott opened fire on Osborn as he came along the street, and the best information is that the first shot hit Elliott in the side of the head or neck. Osborn, after returning the fire at both Elliott and his brother, ran into a hat store, where he was followed by P. J. Elliott and they had a hand-to-hand struggle, during which several shots were fired and Osborn was shot through the head. The ball entering the chin, W. J. Elliott was at one time state supervisor of printing and has taken an active part in politics. He is a personal friend of Charles Stewart Farnell, the Irish leader.

The story of the shooting, as related by Gus and Shadon Johns, eye-witnesses, is that A. C. Osborn was standing in front of Schrader's, talking to Frank Clark, an attorney, when the Elliotts appeared, walking south on High street. The two men walked up close to where Osborn was standing and one made a remark, whereupon the other fired at Osborn who started to back away. He drew a pistol and began firing at the two Elliotts, who were following him, revolvers in hand, and shooting at him. When Osborn reached McDonald's hat store he opened the door and ran in. Patrolman McManany caught W. J. Elliott and then the police entered the hat store where they found Osborn lying dead on the floor and Pat Elliott standing over him, revolver in hand.

Three revolvers have been found, but Osborn's is not among them. Two belong to the Elliotts and are nearly empty. The police are anxious to find the owner of the third. Every chamber is loaded, and the police believe it was held by some fourth party, yet unknown. Fourteen shots were fired altogether.

Pat Elliott says that Mr. Hughes was killed by Osborn, while eye-witnesses claim that W. J. Elliott was the mur-derer. W. J. Elliott said that he did not regret the death of Osborn in the least, but would have rather served twenty years in the penitentiary than be indirectly the cause of Mr. Hughes' death.

F. W. Leavering is the proprietor of the Sunday World and Osborn was the city editor. The Elliotts had made the owner of the third. Every chamber is loaded, and the police believe it
was held by some fourth party, yet
unknown. Fourteen shots were fired altogether.

In the senate Monday afternoon Senator Cole introduced a bill which was suggested by the newspaper feud. It provides that any editor, proprietor, owner or correspondent who publishes or permits to be published any attack upon the private character of any citizen with intent to injure his credit or standing in public or who publicly charges any citizen with unlawful conduct in private affairs, shall be deemed guilty of a felony and fined not less than $1,000 and confined in the penitentiary not less than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court.

WANTED BLOOD OR LOVE

And Compromised By Firing His Home

JAMES CLARK'S ESCAPE.

While Under the Influence of Liquor He Emulates Jack the Ripper and Jack the Huggler All at Once and Lands in Jail.

"I want to cut the heart out of somebody! Show me somebody that I can kill!" yelled James Clark as he rushed into the family residence on Washington street at 6 o'clock last evening.

Five minutes later clouds of smoke issued from the house, caused by Clark, in his drunken frenzy, having knocked a lighted lamp from the table. The lamp set fire to the carpet, but the blaze was extinguished, and Clark proceeded to try his hand on the stove. When that piece of furniture was leveled to the floor, he started out on the street, looking for new worlds to conquer. He didn't find any, and so contented himself with making the air blue with sulphurous oaths. All the time that Clark was wrecking the furniture, his mother was sick in bed and was compelled to listen to his oaths and abuse. A messenger was dispatched down town to get an officer, but when Marshal Acheson reached the house, Clark had disappeared.

His next escape was different. By the time he reached the Pleasant street railroad crossing, he had changed in temperament, and wanted to love somebody. Meeting a young lady, he fondly embraced her, while she frightened beyond measure, struggled to get away from him.

Constable Wallace Cochrane found him on West Milwaukee street shortly afterward and took him to jail.

Clark has been working in Holdridge's warehouse since tobacco. He is no new offender, although since his liberation from the penitentiary, where he was sentenced for burglarizing a saloon, he has kept comparatively straight.

Cochrane marshaled him into the municipal court this morning, when he was charged with drunkenness, and Judge Peterson sentenced him to five days on the stone pile.

PLANS FOR TWO SCHOOLS.

Hau & Kirsch, of Milwaukee, furnish Janesville with specifications.

After spending several hours listening to explanations from the different architects, the board of education last evening adopted the Milwaukee plan, or the one submitted by Messrs. Hau & Kirsch, as the plan to be submitted to the common council for the proposed new school buildings in the fifth and first wards and the one also to be built in the second ward.

Plans were submitted by Messrs. Wray & Blair, and by E. T. Taylor, of this city, also by Hau & Kirsch, of Milwaukee, Conover & Porter, of Madison, and by Mr. Siler, of Cincinnati.

A resolution was adopted asking an appropriation of $20,000, or so much thereof as may be required, for the purpose of erecting the buildings in the first and fifth wards, the amount to be raised by issuing city bonds. After voting to have only one week vacation in the spring, the board adjourned.

The plan adopted provides for a very fine two-story brick building and basement, the building having four good sized school rooms. The plan is also arranged so that an addition containing two rooms can be built at any time without injuring the appearance of the building. The building as now contemplated will be large enough to accommodate from forty-five to sixty-five pupils in each room, according to grade without crowding.

MORTUARY.

John O'Grady.

John O'Grady died at his home in the Second ward at 7 o'clock this morning after a week's illness. Though his death was not entirely unexpected, it is a deep bereavement to the family. Besides a wife, five children are left. They are: Annie, John, Andrew, William and Joseph O'Grady. All of them reside in this city with the exception of Andrew, who is employed on the railroad at Helena, Illinois. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Funeral of Mrs. Maine.

The funeral services of Mrs. W. H. Maine were held from the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wright at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. M. Evans officiating. At the conclusion of the services the interment was made at Oak Hill. Many whose sympathy with the bereaved family was deepened by the sense of a personal loss followed the lifeless clay to its last resting place.

An oyster supper and social will be given at the residence of John Dykeman on Thursday evening for the benefit of the M. E. church. All are cordially invited.

BRIEF LOCAL MENTION.

George Simpson visited Chicago yesterday, and returned this morning. A bright eyed baby girl has made its appearance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Acheson.

The Swedish Male Sextette gives a programme of great variety and of unequalled excellence.

The Swedish singers are announced as the finest combination of male voices to be heard anywhere.

W. H. Ingraham, of Muskegon, Michigan, is the latest addition to F. E. Mosher's force of tonsorial artists.

Dr. J. B. Whiting, Jr., returned from Whitewater this morning, when he had been on professional business.

Tramps who sleep in the Beloit look-up have dry goods boxes for pillows. It doesn't make them hump-backed either.

D. D. Wilson starts for San Francisco to-morrow and will spend a couple of months on the Pacific coast for the benefit of his health.

Dr. Ransom Edden is suffering from a severe attack of pneumonia at Bennett Hospital, Chicago. His mother went down this morning to take care of him.

If Rev. M. Evans was surprised last evening it was to find that he had preached only three hundred sermons in twenty-five years. An error in the types changed "3000" to "300."

The store lately occupied by Shea & Sons, next to the postoffice; best location in the city, is offered for rent. Enquire of Shea & Sons, directly across the street, 1st floor up stairs.

A sociable will be held at the parlors of the Baptist church to-morrow evening. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock. The public is most cordially invited to attend.

Miss Nellie Cheney, of Monroe, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Johnson for a few days past, left for Madison this morning to visit friends in the capital city.

Business is booming on the Chicago & Northwestern road and trains composed of fifty loaded cars are not unusual in the Janesville yards. The 1:30 freight pulled out for Afton with fifty-two loads.

The Swedish Male Sextette have met with crowded houses every place they have appeared. There is no organization of male singers before the American public that takes rank with them.

Rock County Pomona Grange will hold its quarterly session on Wednesday, March 4, at 10 a. m., at the LaPrairie grange hall. There will be a good deal of legislative work to be done and the hall should be well filled.

Stores may come, and stores may go. But we go on forever—SELLING GROCERIES. Why? Because I advertise, and give you just what I agree to. I want your cash. My "annual" sale is larger this season than ever. Get my prices on all groceries. FRED VANKIRK, West Milwaukee street.

Last week they shipped goods to the following "far off points": Philadelphia, Camden, N. J., Washington, D. C., Los Angeles, California, Grand Rapids, Michigan, Louisville, Kentucky.

W. H. Grove, the North First Street blacksmith and wagon maker, has just completed a very strong and convenient little freight wagon for J. A. Canniff, which will be used in connection with his second hand furniture store. The wagon is a strong one, and while it is a trifle smaller than the ordinary freight wagons in use here, it is ample for the work intended.

George Washington's birthday was celebrated last evening by the members of Washington Camp No. 1, Patriotic Order Sons of America at Liberty Hall. Miss Anna Brown and Miss Lon Fenton gave recitations, while Professor O. D. Evans and George Brooks rendered instrumental music. After the programme an oyster supper was served.

SOLD LIQUOR TOO LATE. Complaint made by Marshal Acheson against J. E. Ottomann.

Marshal Acheson made a complaint against J. E. Ottomann yesterday afternoon for keeping his saloon open after eleven o'clock. The case came up today, but owing to the complaint being in Justice Priehard's possession, the case was adjourned until to-morrow morning.

The defendant has secured legal advice and will fight the case. He insists that his bar room was not open, that the only room open after 11 o'clock was one in the rear of the saloon.

She Got Her Sewing Machine. The suit of Mrs. Kate Orosk against W. E. Alport, has been decided in favor of the plaintiff. Mrs. Orosk was induced to exchange her Household sewing machine for a Singer, by representations that the Household Company had gone to the wall and that no fixtures or needles to fit her machine could ever be secured.

Mrs. Orosk was owing a balance of $16 on her machine, but she turned it over to the agents of the Singer machine and agreed to pay some $27 additional for a certain grade of Singer machine. She afterward began suit for the recovery of her machine, and a judgment in her favor was rendered in Justice Priehard's court.

BLIND "SAW" SHERMAN.

The General's Tenderness Shown in Janesville.

A TOUCHING INCIDENT

Memories of the Dead Warrior's Visit to the Bower City Soon After the War—Called By Flags Afloat At Half Mast.

Memories of an incident illustrating the tender side of General Sherman's nature were recalled by the flags floating at half mast during the last few days. The incident occurred in this city soon after the war, and is related to the Racine Journal by a lady who formerly made Janesville her home.

The governor and his suite were to visit the Blind Asylum on a tour of inspection, and it was understood that General Sherman would be of the party. The superintendent invited Mrs. Governor Harvey, who was visiting friends in the city, to be present and assist in the civilities of the occasion. The sightless ones were in great glee calling out to each other "we are going to see General Sherman."

"After the general came in as he was sitting by the side of Mrs. Harvey, she said to him, 'I was surprised to hear that you were here, General Sherman, we are going to see General Sherman.'"

He sprang to his feet in a moment saying, "They shall see General Sherman," and instantly realizing that there was but one way in which they could see him, he shook hands with each one accompanying the act with some kind and loving words which the unfortunate will never forget.

His march to the sea was sublime heroism; his silent journey to his last resting place is marked by a nation's gratitude; that sympathetic touch of the brave man's hand, as he grasped the hands of the blind was stronger than his grasp of the victor's sword-belt, making him more worthy of the honors paid by the nation, as he was borne to his grave.

NINE HOURS' SLEEP IN FIFTY. What Sunday Means to Janesville's City Marshal.

Marshal Acheson is on the track of several saloon keepers who have been violating the ordinances which provide that they shall keep their saloons closed on Sunday and after 11 o'clock p. m. So far as the marshal is concerned, Sunday is anything but a day of rest. It was 3 o'clock Sunday morning when he ended his Saturday's work, and at 6 o'clock Sunday morning he was again on the street looking for excise-law violators. His Sunday ended at 2 a. m. on Monday, and he started for home with a total of forty-one hours' work out of fifty.

Work of the Council. The Maclean Contract.

Very little business other than that mentioned in the Gazette was considered by the common council last evening. The board of H. A. Doty, together with his acceptance of the ordinance granting an incandescent electric light plant were accepted. The clerk then read a communication from W. H. H. Maclean notifying the common council that he had delivered coal according to his contract, and that he held himself ready to deliver the rest as ordered by the council, and that he would hold the city responsible for the full amount of his contract. The communication was referred to the judiciary committee.

Will Fish for a Stone Pier.

Plans and specifications were presented for a stone pier at the north end of the proposed new bridge at Monterey. But the question of adopting the plans was put over until the next meeting, some of the aldermen insisting that a stone pier was already in place and a new one was not needed. A fishing party will endeavor to locate the pier during the week.

After the Railroads. The aldermen spent some little time in discussing the railway companies' neglect as to planting crossings and the practice of obstructing the same by leaving cars on the crossing for an indefinite time. The council came to no definite conclusion, the discussion ending with a remark by the city attorney to the effect that if sufficient proof could be obtained of the violations the company would be prosecuted.

Placing Election Booths. Aldermen Horn, McKay and Vankirk were appointed a special committee to locate booths in the several wards and precincts for the spring election, and to have them ready for the meeting of the boards of registry on next Tuesday.

Special Chamber Echoes. The council committee on sewer plans was not prepared to make their report last evening, and further time was granted.

An ordinance, amending the H. A. Doty electric light ordinance, was passed. This ordinance refers to section one of the original ordinance, being more specific in details.

An order was adopted authorizing the purchase of two United States flags for the engine houses, and also the raising of the flag staff on the west side house eighteen feet. Orders were adopted authorizing the building of several sidewalks in the fifth ward.

The finance committee reported in favor of allowing sundry bills against the several funds aggregating $381.56. P. Ryan was allowed a balance of $88 due him on the Prospect avenue grade.

Ladies' Attention. Mrs. C. H. Brown, 115 West Milwaukee street, wishes to announce to the ladies that she will open a fine stock of French millinery at her parlors by March 16. A cordial invitation will be extended to all to call and examine her pattern hats and bonnets before making your Easter selection. Miss Emma Kemmett, formerly with N. B. Haynes, Chicago, leading millinery, will take entire charge. Miss Kemmett is highly recommended as a first class trimmer and designer, and will be pleased to meet all her friends.
